3. Background information

Since its establishment in 1998, the IOM Country Office in Dakar, Senegal, has been working with the Government of Senegal and other stakeholders in the field of migration to address the challenges and opportunities presented by these dynamic migratory patterns and trends. As a humanitarian and development agency, IOM operates at the intersection of human mobility and sustainable development, contributing to the Organization's Strategic Objectives 2024–2028, namely: (1) saving lives and protecting people on the move; (2) driving solutions to displacement; and (3) facilitating pathways for regular migration.

IOM works in close collaboration with the Government of Senegal and its main agencies to strengthen their institutional capacities in migration governance, policy formulation, and service delivery for migrants and communities. In Senegal, IOM's activities focus on reinforcing the link between migration and development through areas such as integrated border management, protection, assisted voluntary return and reintegration, labour migration management and circular migration opportunities, diaspora engagement and migration policy development, as well as migration, environment and climate change. The Office is also expanding its interventions in community stabilization, humanitarian response, and migration data and research, supporting national and local authorities to promote safe, orderly, and regular migration, in line with national priorities and the Global Compact for Migration.

IOM's primary office and project management site for its Country Office is in Dakar, with a sub-office in Kolda. IOM Senegal currently has 58 staff (24 women and 34 men), 6 of which are international staff and 52 are national staff.

The Project and Policy Support Fellow will contribute to the effective implementation, monitoring, and reporting of projects managed by the IOM Country Office in Senegal. The Fellow will play an active role in supporting project development processes, including the drafting of concept notes and proposals, while facilitating the use of internal IOM tools and mechanisms for project management and resource mobilization. Furthermore, the UN Fellow will contribute to institutional engagement with national and international stakeholders, including government counterparts, development partners, and UN agencies. The assignment will also encompass analytical and policy-related tasks aimed at enhancing the visibility of migration challenges and opportunities at both national and international levels, particularly within the framework of the UN Country Team (UNCT) and other coordination mechanisms, as required by the Country Office.

The UN Fellow will be based in Dakar and will undertake regular travel mainly within Senegal. At the end of the assignment period, IOM Senegal might consider retaining the candidate if their performance is highly satisfactory, subject to funding confirmation.

4. Duties, responsibilities and output expectations:

Within the framework of the Fellowships Programme for Technical Cooperation Capacity Building and Human Resources Development, the candidate will perform the following duties:

1. Contribute to resource mobilization efforts of IOM Senegal by supporting the development of program and unit specific strategies, concept notes and project proposals in response to needs identified by national, and local counterparts, along with donor requirement and IOM strategic objectives in coordination with Heads of Units, Resource Management Unit, and the Chief of Mission (COM);

2. Support the monitoring and follow up on the timely submission of monthly, quarterly, and final project reports according to IOM procedures and donor requirements in coordination with Heads of Units and COM;
3. Assist in preparing regular updates, programme summaries, briefings and other relevant informational materials and statistics, according to specific project and IOM Senegal's needs.
4. Contribute to the identification and development of potential areas of intervention related to humanitarian response, including support to emergency preparedness, protection of vulnerable migrants, and community stabilization initiatives, in coordination with relevant thematic units and external partners
5. Contribute to the development and implementation of appropriate tracking monitoring tools as well as frameworks to facilitate the effective implementation and monitoring of projects and activities, in coordination with the M&E Officer, Heads of Units and COM;
6. Support the Programme Support Unit (PSU) in coordinating internal planning processes and ensuring alignment between project portfolios, strategic priorities, and institutional reporting requirements, including through contributions to strategic frameworks, donor mappings, and results-based management (RBM) exercises;
7. Contribute to Policy and Liaison activities by supporting IOM Senegal's engagement with government counterparts, UN agencies, and development partners, including through the preparation of talking points, briefing notes, and policy inputs highlighting migration trends, challenges, and opportunities at national and regional levels. The Fellow will also participate in relevant meetings to represent IOM, ensure institutional visibility, and follow up on engagement processes within bilateral and multilateral cooperation frameworks.
8. In close coordination with communications colleagues, and in compliance with project visibility guidelines, contribute to and support the production and strategic dissemination of communication materials to document and promote project activities, achievements and impacts in the form of Press Briefing Notes, social media updates, website content, project information sheets and brochures, and other material as relevant;
9. Contribute to the collection, study, and sharing of relevant information/data on migration routes, migrant protection issues, labour exploitation of migrant workers and migrants and the effects of climate change on migration, for dissemination to colleagues and relevant stakeholders;
10. Keep accurate and pertinent records of all correspondence, project development and reporting files and administration information including through IOM's internal management tools, Project Tracking Matrix, SharePoint, amongst others;
11. Undertake duty travel as required;
12. Perform any other duties that may be assigned.

Senegal, officially the Republic of Senegal, is a country in West Africa. Senegal is bordered by Mauritania in the north, Mali to the east, Guinea to the southeast, and Guinea-Bissau to the southwest. The official language of Senegal is French, though the country includes a wide mix of ethnic and linguistic communities, with the largest being the Wolof. Senegal is a member state of the African Union, the United Nations, the Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS), and the Community of Sahel-Saharan States. The currency used in the Central African Franc (Franc CFA).

The UN Fellow will be based in Dakar, where there are no restrictions on movement for international staff. Living conditions are convenient and safe.

The cost of living has increased over the last years; however, overall costs (including rental, restauration, transportation) remain affordable. Accommodation is widely available, especially among UNVs, UN Fellows, and NGO staff based in Dakar. UN and ONG staff prefer to share apartments to share cost of facilities to be more centered and closer to the office where apartments are more expensive than in other parts of the city.

Direct flights to Rome, Paris, Istanbul and Casablanca connect Dakar to Europe or Africa at reasonable prices several times a week. The IOM office is located in a central area (Les Almadies) close to other UN regional headquarters. In Dakar, inner city travel is advised to be conducted using taxis, bicycles, or private cars. It is recommended to examine the condition of a vehicle and its driver before purchasing a ticket to board any intercity mode of transport.

Senegal hosts several cultural activities, such as music and arts festivals. Traditional social activities vary from region to region. Baptisms and weddings are big events in all areas. Football in Senegal is a major preoccupation throughout the country and basketball is becoming more popular. Traditional wrestling tournaments and the ceremonies surrounding them are important sources of entertainment throughout the country.
